

An aerial site plan of a residential development. A red line traces a path through the site, starting from a road on the left, curving around a large brown, undeveloped area, and then continuing through a residential area with several buildings and parking lots. The path ends at a road on the right. A white box with a red border contains the text "REBUILD CONTINUES FROM RESEARCH". A red arrow points from the text box to the start of the red line. The road is labeled "BLATT BLVD".
